

Germany's best kinds of food are bread and sausages.

There are many famous castles in Germany.

Martin Luther was the founder of the Protestant Reformation.

Dietrich Bonhoeffer is known for bravery in World War II and he was a famous theologian.

Johannes Gutenberg invented the printing press and the moveable type so he could print the Bible.

Colonel Claus Von Stauffenberg was a German resistance leader in charge of the Valkyrie Plot to kill Adolf Hitler.

The Berlin Wall used to separate East Berlin from West Berlin.

The Berlin Wall used to separate East Berlin from West Berlin.

Germany is Europe's number one car manufacturer. Volkswagen is Germany's second largest company. They make the Porsche, BMW, and the Mercedes Benz.

Adolf Hitler was the German dictator from 1933-1945. He was called the Fuhrer. Hitler was cruel and executed the Jews.

Much of Germany's land is used for farming. Germans grow barley, rye, and sugar beets. They raise cows, pigs, chickens, and sheep.

The Black Forest is located in southwest Germany.

The Black Forest is known for its mineral springs.

Rügen Island is Germany's largest island.

Economy

Germany has many important manufacturing businesses. It is known for its rich coal mines and steel production.

Government

Today Germany is a federal republic. There is a Chancellor who heads the government. Germany is a federation of 16 Lander states. Each state has its own government.

Geography

Germany is located in central Europe. It measures 137,846 square miles. Nine countries surround Germany. It has one sea coast.

Culture

Germany is a land filled with culture.

History

German history has had many significant people.

Germany's best kinds of food are bread and sausages.

There are many famous castles in Germany.

Martin Luther was the founder of the Protestant Reformation.

Dietrich Bonhoeffer is known for bravery in World War II and he was a famous theologian.

Johannes Gutenberg invented the printing press and the moveable type so he could print the Bible.

Colonel Claus Von Stauffenberg was a German resistance leader in charge of the Valkyrie Plot to kill Adolf Hitler.

The Berlin Wall used to separate East Berlin from West Berlin.

The Berlin Wall used to separate East Berlin from West Berlin.

Germany is Europe's number one car manufacturer. Volkswagen is Germany's second largest company. They make the Porsche, BMW, and the Mercedes Benz.

Adolf Hitler was the German dictator from 1939-1945. He was called the Fuhrer. Hitler was cruel and executed the Jews.

Much of Germany's land is used for farming. Germans grow barley, rye, and sugar beets. They raise cows, pigs, chickens, and sheep.

The Black Forest is located in southwest Germany.

The Black Forest is known for its mineral springs.

Rügen Island is Germany's largest island.

Economy

Germany has many important manufacturing businesses. It is known for its rich coal mines and steel production.

Government

Today Germany is a federal republic. There is a Chancellor who heads the government. Germany is a federation of 16 Lander states. Each state has its own government.

Geography

Germany is located in central Europe. It measures 137,846 square miles. Nine countries surround Germany. It has one sea coast.

Culture

Germany is a land filled with culture.

History

German history has had many significant people.